Often the faces speak what words can never say.
Carl Sandburg
Describing Meredith ... a way of life ... an atmosphere ... an education ... is not easily done in twenty-five words or less.

Sometimes it takes more than a year or two, but soon we learn that Meredith is not just a brick, columned establishment; it is the expression of a colorful and intense way of life.

Meredith is vital. People perform, a building goes up, something is constantly happening. We live in a kaleidoscopic world of art exhibits and book teas, parallel reading and frog dissection, Monday history lectures and senior seminars, the smell of baking bread and the strum of a lone guitar. We absorb this micro-culture and soon see that each tradition and innovation, each restriction and freedom is uniquely Meredith.

In this atmosphere, we have felt, if not the birth, then certainly the growth of a new intellectual, social, and cultural awareness. Whether reading to a blind student, grasping the concept of situational ethics, or just meeting a friend at the Bee Hive, we are learning. We give, we take, and slowly, very slowly we emerge as individuals ... a bit different and slightly more aware.

The true picture of Meredith is, thus, a flurry of expressions ... the pride of accomplishment, the pain of failure, the anticipation of a week end, the excitement of discovery, the joy of growth. These are our fleeting expressions ... the essence of Meredith life.
The mind grows by what it feeds on.
J. G. Holland
I will study and get ready, and perhaps my chance will come.
Abraham Lincoln
A boy is, of all wild beasts, the most difficult to manage.

Plato
Some days must be dark and dreary.
Henry Wadsworth Longfellow
I've taken my fun where I've found it.
Rudyard Kipling

Bob Dylan
The great teacher is not the man who supplies the most facts, but the one in whose presence we become different people.

Ralph Waldo Emerson
BERNARD H. COCHRAN, Ph.D.,
Associate Professor of Religion

Your first words to us were spoken during Orientation Week, September, 1964. Your address began, “In the words of an astute theologian of our times, Charlie Brown, ‘Happiness is Orientation Week coming to an end.’” Your awareness, subtle humor and sincere interest in us were instantly realized.

We began to know you as the William Holden-Dick Van Dyke image whose casual classroom atmosphere was animated and thought-provoking. Soon, after Saturday-morning lectures or encounters on campus, we saw your true spirit. Widening from your particular field, you have steadily contributed elements of generosity, patience, and wit to the college scene. For those of us who know you well, you are a counselor with conviction and with understanding. Energy of action marks your small as well as your great pursuits. You are aware of and intensely involved in the contemporary issues as well as the traditional ones.

We will always know you as an exceptionally personable professor. You are two wide eyes looking in pseudo-surprise, a perpetually dying out pipe, a pair of Hushpuppies. You are the week-long occupier of a third-row chapel seat after bringing a $40 bid at the Faculty Auction. You are the zany Mad-Hatter who tripped the light fantastic in Alice’s Land of Wonder.

Your role on the campus is vital. You are our man on the Concert and Lecture Series Committee and the MCA Council. You are the Distinguished Faculty Lecturer on “Puritanism in America.” You are the baritone in the Faculty Quartet.

Because you personify Meredith’s crusade for progress, Meredith’s quest for scholarship, Meredith’s concern for the individual, we, the class of 1968, gratefully dedicate the Oak Leaves to you, Dr. Bernard H. Cochran.
"FOREWARNED, FOREARMED; TO BE PREPARED IS HALF THE VICTORY."

Dr. Leslie Syron, Advisor
“Hey look us over, Seniors this year”... we arrive eagerly in September... anxious to renew friendships... filled with anticipation for this, our senior year... at registration we realize that this will be a year of “lasts”... the last classes... the last chapel... the last tests... the last chance... with enthusiasm and determination we make this the best year yet... the books which have been our companions at Meredith become #1 best sellers as seniors bring home to the hallowed halls of Poteat the Cornhuskin' cup... the search for top secret information in a geisha house reveals a winning stunt... society rush arrives, uniting Phis and Astros in the sisterhood of the Meredith Community... as our final semester begins we become more and more aware with each passing day that this is a time of decisions... job interviews and applications... graduate record exams... wedding plans... the future is ours to command... the decisions are ours alone... May arrives almost too soon and with it comes that final victory... graduation... with humble hearts we realize how very fortunate we have been in so many ways... and then good-bye... we pack our bags with mixed emotions, nostalgia for the past, mingled sadness and joy for the present and bright new hope for the future... we go our separate ways... though time and space will separate us, the deeper bonds of friendship and sisterhood will always unite in spirit the Class of '68... “The times we’ve spent together will soon be memories...”

Prospective queens of May

The really Big Three
EXCEPTIONAL SENIORS

An effervescent spirit . . . an unflinching loyalty. . . . The Exceptional Senior is chosen by her classmates for the outstanding quality that makes her herself. Yet, at the same time, she is a synthesis of superlatives. Whether behind the scenes, or commanding her post, her enthusiasm and dedication remain inexhaustible. She will be remembered years from now as the exceptional personality who has helped to make our class unique . . . a winning smile . . . a true individual.

TEENIE SINK

friendly, enthusiastic, gracious . . . a diligent legislator, the liaison between students and administration—the Meredith lady.

HOPE GLOVER

loyal, sincere, aware . . . the drive to revamp our electoral process, the compassion to be a real friend—a constant willingness to give of herself.

LIBBA WATKINS

animated, bouncy, confident . . . a leprechaun, never content to sit still—the embodiment of a sunny disposition.
JOY O'BERRY
personified perpetual motion, refreshingly real, deep . . . the genius behind our class productions, an empathetic ear—our soul sister.

CAROLYN HALYBURTON
flamboyant, talkative, magnetic . . . Grendel, Mama Cass, Tarzan's Jane—our symbol of spontaneous gaiety.

MARY KATHRYN MOFFITT
sophisticated naivete, dry wit, sensitivity . . . the booger devil, lesson plans, English papers, Stunt and Cornhuskin' scripts—reflections of her boundless creativity.
BETTY DUCKWORTH
constant mirth, zest for life, versatility ... stage director, song leader, and Mama Astro—brightening up even the dreariest occasion.

BRENDA SMITH
warm, unpretentious, traditional ... Chief Counselor, Judi Board diplomat—the ability to be a quiet leader.

LYNN DODGE
generous, understanding, logical ... always taking a stand, always ready to act, to help, to cheer the team—a giant of congeniality.
ARDEN PERRY
unpredictable, uninhibited, a million laughs . . .
a sheik and a spy in two winning Stunts—esprit de corps incarnate.

JUDY KORNEGAY
organized, conscientious, opinionated . . . the progressive leader of the Concert and Lecture Series, the savior of "Alice In Wonderland"—our omniscient armchair philosopher.

MARTHA ELLEN WALKER
Impressionable, cosmopolitan, delightfully neurotic . . . proud producer of a victorious Stunt, a non-conformist editor, a rebel with yankee blood—whose legacy is time and innovation.
“ALL THINGS NOBLE ARE AS DIFFICULT AS THEY ARE RARE.”

"Collegiate aristocracy" is an asset to the community. This small group of seniors is elected by the faculty and senior class of Meredith each year to represent the college in the directory. "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." Characteristically, these girls demonstrate outstanding academic achievement, leadership, and potential for future success. These abstract qualities personified are representative of the high caliber of the Meredith girl.

President, Student Government

LEGISLATIVE BOARD

The voice of the student body... the lawmakers... By analyzing the Student Government Constitution and its impact on the social and academic realms of Meredith, the Legislative Board initiates progressive and purposeful policies. This year the board passed the change in hours, the new election system, the deletion of public dance restrictions, and the slackening of Freshmen "lights out." This year also marked the first joint meeting of the Faculty Committee and the Legislative Board. Thus, the effective interaction of faculty and students continues to be of paramount importance... rewording of proposals... striving for the Utopia.

Teenie Sink, Chairman
Rule enforcement agency ... our own special brand of judicial review ... From routine meetings in Poteat to pre-dawn sessions in Joyner, the decisions facing the Judicial Board are often crucial. The great responsibility attached to a board post is both demanding and awesome. The members do smile, however, occasionally ... seen only in pairs and never after dark ... the G-Squad ... sentences left in mid-air when they enter a room ... “even our friends won’t tell — what friends?” ... standing for the faculty committee to enter ... throw away the handbook and start over ... “36 miles and we live too.”

JUDICIAL BOARD

The "new" Elections System... the filing period, the primary, the election... Finally, after long meetings, much consideration, questions of "will it work?" and mountains of faith in student responsibility and participation, the Filing System has evolved. The Elections Board replaces the Nominating Committee, signifying the transition from the old system of nominating candidates to run for office, to the new system under which students file for offices for which they feel qualified. The ground work has been laid for a dynamic program of new student perspective and opportunity... students take initiative... success is conditional.

Indispensable guide... within an arm's reach of every Freshman... The task of initiating revisions and additions which clarify and widen the rights and responsibilities of each Meredith student is handled by the Handbook Committee: Jane Lockman, Roma Bowen, Nancy Tyren, Lavinia Vann, and Suzanne Reynolds, headed by Hope Glover... Meredith's fact-finder... the fourth student publication on campus.

Summer letters to freshmen singing Meredith's praises... aching feet!... The student counselors are a group of upper-classmen who serve under the guidance of Miss Lucile Peak as student advisors for Freshmen and transfer students. These girls meet with their groups individually to discuss personal problems such as grades and adjustments to college. Also, approximately once a month all the groups meet together for lectures on such topics as charm, summer jobs, and the value of a liberal arts education. Every group has a faculty advisor who consults with each girl until the time her major is declared... "President Heilman had a farm"... "But you just must go by and see your advisor, even if you do have 3 D's."

The Student Activities Board is composed of club presidents and officers from each class, society, and dormitory, as well as the chairmen of major campus projects such as Concerts and Lectures and Library Fund. The primary purpose of the group is to coordinate social and other extra-curricular activities for the students and faculty both on campus and in Raleigh, by planning and helping to carry out a wide variety of projects such as selling doughnuts and creating ingenious bulletin boards, expansion of Parents' Day to Parents' Weekend, the faculty is going to do "Alice!"
CONCERT AND LECTURE SERIES COMMITTEE

Publicizing campus events... from "Censorship in a Democratic Society" to the Luctenberg Duo... rising student interest. The aim was for a year-long program with varied interests to appeal to people in each field. The symposium was designed to view its theme from several angles, hoping to provoke thought and controversy. The arts found expression through the Duo and the magnificently received Llords International Marionette Concert Theater... future projection of more student voices in planning... a pot pourri of new ideas.

MEREDITH CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Selling Tippy Tacos... sharing themselves with the mentally ill... working with Blind School kids... tutoring the underprivileged. The MCA exists for inspiration and introspection for the entire community and not just "religious people." This organization was the genius behind Religious Emphasis Week—a week of drinking New Wine and talking and talking and talking. Will Meredith become integrated or not? Only the MCA knows for sure. How to get adjusted to a new college minister in fifty easy lessons... one of the big three.

New Gym? . . . everyone a member. . . . The body-builders, the weight-watchers, the fun-minded activists on campus find outlets in the diverse functions of the MRA. From the campus tour during Orientation Week to the fried chicken picnic in the Spring, this organization is bustling with activity. This year’s Faculty/Student ping-pong and tennis tournaments and Student/Faculty Night helped to unite the campus in its drive to keep physically fit. Although the basketball team suffered a totally defeated season, the highly successful Cornhuskin’ and Stunt events were highlights of the year. Duchess Betty Duckworth and Duke Roger Crook reigned over the MRA-sponsored Play Day which brought the year to a colorful close . . . one of the big three . . . New Gym!
Clacking of typewriters, clicking of brains ... chaotic copy transformed into prosaic print ... The expressions of a versatile staff have become immortalized in the pages of the totally different OAK LEAVES 1968. Unusual settings and a smattering of adjectives have congealed to form a unique and successful publication. The result is the preservation of 1968 through the faces and voices of Meredith College ... racing Mr. Barbour through last minute sessions ... tackling club write-ups ... the exultation of the finished product.

Waiting for the Muse to descend ... provocative ideas (but how to express them??). ... The Acorn, literary magazine of the Meredith community, publishes the poetry, short stories, essays, and art work of students and others several times each year. The magazine welcomes the imaginative work of all community members, and is especially receptive to creative and constructive innovations ... wanderings and musings of the gray matter. ... THE ACORN

Ellen Warren, Editor

Amateur journalists at work... collaborating to meet the deadlines... The Meredith newspaper is fighting passivity. The nucleus of The Twig, consisting of dedicated and determined thinkers, analyzes the Meredith situation, past and present, and strives to evoke student response. Through probing editorials, humorous innovations, poignant cartoons, and absorbing columns these campus commentators have produced a newspaper that demands more than a mere perusal. An endless cycle of beats, stories, pictures, ads, layouts, and proofs compose The Twig... the climax of publication... the return to the first Brewer sanctum to start again.

THE TWIG
"Lead on O Philaretia Fair" . . .
"Wear blue, wear white, be a Phi!" . . . Swelling enthusiasm and energy marked this year for the Phis. The year began with folk music and fun at the fall freshman meeting and then a rocking and heart-warming party at Christmas with the Phis' own adopted cerebral palsy children. A ski trip to Switzerland was staged for the Supper Club, complete with skis and all. An exotic luau climaxed Rush Week, featuring a beloved hula dancer named Eads. And finally the week drew to a close with tears of happiness greeting new sisters, and smiles of friendship reuniting the old ones. This was a year of discovery—of new talent within the sisterhood and a year of realization—of the true meaning of the motto, "plain living and high thinking" . . . "Milton, the Philaretian, was a friendly bear" . . . "Brave Mother lead the way."

ASTRO SOCIETY

"Astro, Mother Astro" ... "sisters of the Gold and White." ... The Astro Star represents the light of friendship and sisterhood within the community. The Rhythm Kids spark notes of pride and joy in every Astro's heart. "Vittles 'n Fiddles" lit the flame of fun and co-operation which burned brilliantly throughout the year. Children's faces glowed when Santa arrived at the Christmas Party; while the Astros, attempting to learn new dance steps, beamed with delight.

"All around the campus here" little Astro lights seem to sparkle especially during Rush. Their brightness increased with the welcoming of many new sisters on Decision Day. ... "He builds too low—who builds beneath the stars" ... challenging motto for every day ... "catch an Astro Star and put it in your pocket—it will never fade away!"
“This little Astro light of mine.”

Astro Supper Club features “A Star Is Born.”
ALPHA RHO TAU
ART CLUB

Less is more . . . three psychedelically wonderful days with Grove exploring art in Washington . . . cook-outs and a Christmas party . . . The Art Club is the impetus for the display of creative energy on the Meredith campus. Alpha Rho Tau has sponsored such art-related functions as an informal "Careers Day" in the Hut during which students talked with experts in various fields of art . . . second semester-senior exhibits . . . final blowout in the spring.

AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

Feet getting tangled in new pedal exercises . . . the swelling beauty of a new Baldwin electronic . . . The organ practice rooms become a haven for those fascinated by the starts and stops of this intricate instrument. Meredith's Organ Guild supplies some of the answers and insights for the full appreciation of organ music. These organ enthusiasts enjoy inspecting organs of nearby churches and attending and giving concerts of their own on campus . . . an attraction for N. C. State music lovers . . . probing the pipes for the exact rank.

Booming enrollment . . . enthusiastic leadership by a new sponsor, Dr. Charles Davis. . . . A lively gathering of seventy-five launched a new year of the Canaday Math Club. Through the auspices of North Carolina State University initial acquaintances with the vast opportunities in advanced studies and careers were made . . . revamping of the club constitution . . . "Mathematics is the exciting structure of our existence and not just something for the specialist."

BARBER SCIENCE CLUB

Blue-green algae . . . acid-stained white lab coats. . . . Anyone interested in the realm of the scientific discovers a fruitful experience as a member of the Barber Science Club. Beyond the test tubes and microscopes of the labs, the club has conducted field trips to the Washington Phosphate Mines, a wildlife refuge, and to Morehead Beach for a biological survey. Industrious guest speakers have discussed such topics as "Wood Ducks" and "Capsule Chemistry" . . . kitty corpses . . . the "mad" scientists.

COLTON
ENGLISH
CLUB

Tea and crumpets at 4:30 . . . enthusiastic guidance by Dr. Knight. . . . One of the liveliest clubs on campus, the Colton English Club has a variety of interests centered on the literary. Club members entertain children at the Blind School weekly by reading anything from Macbeth to “kiddie lit.” Stimulating discussions at book teas, the book auction with Auctioneer Dean Peacock, and the annual banquet contribute to a purposeful club experience . . . future writers of the Great American Novel . . . “Reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man” . . .

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Music majors convening in the SAI room . . . mystical patronesses and eager pledges . . . The one fraternity on the Meredith campus is complete with Pledge Week, rituals and pins. The sisters grow together in their devotion to music through their participating in musicals, attending conventions in Georgia and Chicago and fervently preparing for the visit of their province president. SAI’s also host prospective freshman music majors while on campus for auditions . . . pledges survive another Slave Week . . . Beta Zeta.

MAE GRIMMER GRANDDAUGHTERS' CLUB

Representing Meredith's third generation...preserving the college traditions... The Granddaughters' Club is a social club for those girls whose mothers or grandmothers attended Meredith. With Mrs. Margaret Martin as their sponsor, the club aids with alumnae affairs and plans for the big May Day Breakfast...accumulating 3,000 bricks to build a patio...preparing Seniors for future roles as alumnae.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

"But Home Ec. is a 24-hour a day job..." 67 members learning that Home Ec. is more than just cooking and sewing...Through the '67 program theme, "Head Start toward Your Profession," the Home Economics Club has shown the versatility and wide scope of the field. Projects of the year included dressing dolls for the Salvation Army, sponsoring bake sales, and buying a new mixer for the Home Management House...home-made refreshments at every meeting...finding the way to a man's heart.
HOOFPRINT
CLUB

Posting through the puddles... Meredith's equestriennes... Enthusiasm and riding skill are the mutual attributes of the members of the riding club. The club's agenda includes the North Carolina Championship Horse Show in the fall, the May Day show on campus, and a variety of speakers and films. True communication between horse and rider reaches its peak at the annual Christmas party and on 5:30 Breakfast Rides on balmy spring mornings... steeple-chasing anyone?... a stable organization.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Learning from first hand sources... broadening our views of basic issues... The members of the IRC have met representatives from the embassies of China, England, Germany, and France. Discovering the significance of all countries in the world situation is the goal... enough activities to challenge every interest... a fascinating year.

Permittons-nous de vous présenter Les Amies Françaises ... Danielle de Ville d’Avray ... La table française—manger et parler en français ... Joyeux Noël et Bonne Année en France! ... “Quik” at Christmas ... Cuisine française—la madeleine, le cadeau d’orange, le café, les petits chocolats ... Meeting “native” Frenchmen at L’Alliance Française ... Many visits to Paris via slides ... au revoir.

LA TERTULIA SPANISH CLUB

Spain and South of the Border ... breaking the pinata ... Guests from Spanish-speaking countries broaden cultural outlooks of these language enthusiasts. Communication in Spanish is a challenging medium. Slides from many countries and discussions based on personal experiences supply exciting insights and journeys to the realms of the Spanish. “Cielito Lindo” with guitar and accordion ... fun-filled fiestas.

MONOGRAM CLUB

"Big Jocks" of Meredith . . . honorary organization . . . The big burgundy "M" worn by the members of the Monogram Club symbolizes their active participation in a variety of sports and activities. These girls become members of the club when they earn one thousand points through playing in both group and individual sports. For every five hundred points after they become a member, a charm is awarded. Their key to victory is persistence. These sports enthusiasts accumulate points in tennis, volleyball, basketball, hockey, riding, and hiking (ten points per mile) . . . Superb physical fitness . . . athletic prowess . . . and just plain fun.

Jean Stafford  Judy Ratley  Dennis Byrd
Lynn Dodge    Patty Tollefsrud, President

"Hey, teacher, you can't give us this assignment; we have a ballgame tonight." . . . "Teaching is leaving a vestige of oneself in the development of another." . . . The NEA is both of these ideas and more. The NEA convenes for five meetings with their mentor, Miss Bell, who tries to make teachers of the fifty-five members. Senior members share their student teaching experiences, excellent speakers serve as inspirations, and then the future teachers strike out on their own . . . lesson plans and bulletin boards . . . a rewarding experience.

PLAYHOUSE

"Exit stage left" ... "Where's the prompter?" ... These are the bywords for one of the most active groups on campus, the Meredith College Playhouse, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Ann Phillips. Under her direction, the Playhouse presented "It Should Happen to a Dog," an updated version of Jonah and the whale, during the fall semester. "Royal Gambit," a story of Henry VIII and his wives, will be the spring presentation. Production of plays is not the only activity of the Playhouse; many of them also take an active part in Reader's Theater, chapel programs, and Stunt. ... "Break a leg" ... the tragediennes and comediennes of Meredith.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

Our psychiatric ward on campus ... probing the intellect. ... In order to understand more fully the human mind and human behavior, the club has guest speakers and films on topics of interest not only to the club members, but also to the student body as a whole. Being in this club has given the members knowledge and the desire to serve humanity ... exchanging ideas ... finding direction.

SOCIOCY CLiB

From Plato to Merton... engendering social awareness... The Sociology Club, sponsored by Dr. Leslie Syron, points up the problems plaguing society and projects possible solutions. An Open House this year enlightened future social workers of interesting employment opportunities within the community. Club members also delved into social services within the Headstart program, the Welfare department and migrant aid projects. The "Sosh" Club further studies the current trends and conditions within the Raleigh area for a personal insight into social interaction... socialization with Dr. Tucker and his family... interest rejuvenated... by new male prof?

YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB

Campaign posters and victory parties... new spurt of energy... "BYE, BYE BIRDIES!" was the battle cry for the "GO Party" as club members sponsored speakers on campus this year. Ranging from gubernatorial hopeful John Stickley to Dr. John East, a professor at East Carolina and a candidate for Secretary of State, the speakers made 1967-68 an eventful year for the "grand old party" on the Meredith campus... State Convention hostesses... "never say die"... awakening of student interest in the political environment.

TOMORROW'S BUSINESS WOMEN

Monthly meetings at the Alumnae House . . . Christmas mailing list project . . . Tomorrow's Business Women seeks to promote and encourage interest in business and economics. Guided by this year's theme, "Galaxy of Business," the members pursued interesting ideas and areas through a field trip to Wachovia and a fashion show at Burton's. A variety of guest speakers further enhanced the business world for Meredith's future tycoons. . . . "What, another re-take for the annual??" . . . a future of analyzing the stock market on grocery bags.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS CLUB

Meetings in the Hut . . . fighters of apathy. . . . Each year members of the Meredith YDC attend the Young Democrats Convention in Greensboro and entertain such dynamic speakers as Mrs. Nancy Chase, a member of North Carolina's House of Representatives. YD's avidly campaigned for Melville Broughton and Bob Scott and topped off the year with the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner in the spring . . . the better informed voters of tomorrow . . . College Federation . . . Vote Democratic.

ENSEMBLE

Meredith's Rockettes ... accompanists to formal dinners. ... Eleven lilting voices blend in a Brahms anthem or the traditional "Stille Nacht" under the expert direction of Miss Beatrice Donley. The Ensemble is noted for its outstanding performances on campus and in other cities and states. Typifying the Meredith image, the girls have been gracious hostesses and delightful guests in any situation ... the aim—to spread music and Meredith ... the hope—to begin a grand tour to Toronto, Canada.

CHORUS

Rushing to chapel to inspire a congregation ... stumbling through a sight-reading session to master new music. ... Thus, the demanding pace of the chorus continues as it brings the delight of music to the Meredith community. Under the flamboyant, skillful direction of Mrs. Jane Sullivan, the chorus travels far and wide singing on tours and taping programs for both radio and television. On campus, the chorus presents the annual Christmas concert and, this year, sang before the Board of Trustees. Robing room mix-ups, exam-time sextets, and special concerts the night before the one biology quiz of the semester add a note of the unpredictable to the busy life of a chorus member ... the ecstasy of a perfect B minor chord ... the thrill of an audience's applause ... or their even more powerful silence.

Swapping recipes for a current best seller . . . a friendly bond between campus and community . . . Maids and matrons from Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill, and points between convene in the madcap atmosphere of the Day Student Room. Smoke-congested meetings set the scene for the planning of traditional Day Student affairs: the Christmas party, the luncheon in the spring, the Hamburger Feast in the Hut, and the welcoming of in-coming students on May Day weekend. Surviving on Bee Hive sandwiches and coffee, the commuting student becomes a vital part of campus life . . . the sacred shrine of the study room . . . constant re-decoration of their haven on Second Johnson.
IT'S WHAT'S HAPPENING

Due to a lack of interest tomorrow has been canceled

The Meredith girl is constantly influenced by the current events, issues and opinions of people in the limelight. The expressions of the world politico-social situation are vital topics.

The Vietnam War has shaken seminar discussions from the realm of philosophies to the grim facts of reality. Our abstract discussions of Communist aggression and modern atomic warfare have become tinged with personal sympathies and involvements. As the ever-changing draft laws fluctuate, pin-mates, fiancés, sisters, and wives have begun to take intense interest in Q.P.'s, number of hours, war escalation, local draft boards and signs of the zodiac.

Over 17,000 American men have died thus far in the Vietnam War. It is difficult to review this war objectively, however, as it is still a current and most potent issue. . . . And now President Johnson has decided not to run.

Our generation, like every one before it, considers itself unique. The individualism of the 60's has manifested itself in the "Hippie Movement" which epitomizes our non-conforming, mini-skirted generation. Its psychedelic appeals of "flower power" and "make love not war" have ushered in such phenomena as love-ins, trip-ins, sleep-ins, strip-ins, yip-ins, laugh-ins, hip-ins, be-ins, step-ins, walk-ins, drive-ins . . .

On April 4th, Dr. Martin Luther King, the voice of Negro non-violence in America, was assassinated in Memphis, Tennessee. A curfew, road blocks, the blazing Raleigh skyline were symbols of a city on the rampage. Some of us were shaken with a sense of guilt and horror. Yet were we horrified enough to alter our pristine lives with compassionate understanding and action? Were we really Soul Brothers?

Incipient southern republicanism; a future trend? With the names of Jim Gardner and John Stickley leading the North Carolina pachyderms, and Romney, Rockefeller, and Reagan dominating the national minority party, is the GOP headed for another South Sea Bubble or a resurrection?

England's recent announcement of the devaluation of the pound from $2.80 to $2.40, has met with serious repercussions. With a dwindling empire and staggering lack of confidence in Labour Prime Minister Wilson, Great Britain faces a satellite status to the U.S.

With the rage beginning in London, girls all over the world have starved themselves and sassembled their hair aspiring to the world of Twiggydom; paradoxically, Cass of the Mamas and the Papas, big-time-loser of the battle of the bulges, has capitalized on her balloonish charms.

The seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship, Pueblo, by North Korean patrol boats has fomented international frustration and awkwardness demanding supreme diplomacy. This episode will most probably provide future History 451 students with a new mystery project.

Across the nation programs of "Institutional Co-operation" have been launched to pool the resources of neighboring universities and colleges. This enlightenment has brought about the demise of the strictly all-male and all-female institution, seen as State men enter the virginal halls of Meredith.

Attention has been focused on the outcome of heart transplants in South Africa and the United States. The 1968 medical achievements portend possible future brain transplants from which it is hoped that Charles deGaulle might receive benefit.

Music tastes of the time have favored "Ode to Billy Joe" by Bobbie Gentry. Generations of the future will no doubt be plagued, as we have been, by that piercing question, "Just what did Billie Joe McAllister throw off the Tallahatchie bridge?"

The nouveau-realistic style of this song has extended into other fields of art as "Bonnie and Clyde" and "The Graduate" have become the top box-office attractions. Scarlett O'Hara has again purged our Southern sentiment with the release of "G.W.T.W." The Beatles' "Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts' Club Band" has been a top-selling album.

On the Meredith campus, the skeletal frame of the Carlyle Campbell Library is nearing completion, the Hut has become a coffee house and the Gym is still temporary.

The college year has been marked by the bizarre, the banal and the beautiful. What has turned the Meredith girl on?—Paul Newman posters, graffiti, LSD, the "Taste of New Wine," and young male professors. From Raleigh race riots to a new 6-cent postage stamp, the "happenings" of the world have had meaningful expressions on the Meredith campus.

Mr. Dailey Derr, Instructor of Political Science.

The "now" generation.
The library gets its start with Dr. Campbell at the shovel.

"Twiggy II"—the maxi-fad.

Jesse Helms, commentator, speaks on "Censorship in the News Media."

TOP: Guest lecturer, Sam Ragan, discusses "The Courts and Obscenity."

Dr. Theodore Ropp, author-professor, examines "Censorship and War."
Costumed extravaganza...the pursuit of the pumpkin...Halloween comes to Meredith and brings with it Cornhuskin'. This tradition ushers in class and faculty competition in costume, song, tall tale, apple-bobbing, corn huskin' and hog-calling events. The Seniors carried away highest honors this year; the Juniors placed second...apples for all...a total campus caper.

CORNHUSKIN'

Freshmen flowers participate in their first Cornhuskin'.

Sandra Vernon and Louise Watson win 'huskin' competition for Juniors.

Mrs. Allen broadcasts for Station WLSD.

Pam Pernell and Tony McKinney ham it up as Robin Hood and Maid Marion with Little John trailing.
Faculty takes a trip.

Perry the Pumpkin tells Sophomore Tall Tale.

Jeannie E. Leonard as Senior Bookworm.

Junior Sister Vikings.
"The roar of the grease paint" ... four smash hits. ... Another annual phenomenon at Meredith is Stunt, for which each class writes, directs and produces an original production. This year, the two winning Stunts, Senior and Junior, were presented for Parents' Weekend. With outstanding costumes, elaborate sets and superb acting, Stunt 1967 soared to new heights ... dress rehearsal panic before faculty critics ... the finale—capturing the trophy.
Seniors present "Geisha Gambit—or-That's the Way the Fortune Cookie Crumbles"—A spy spoof.

Chinese villain Walker puts the make on Secret Agent Perry.

Pre-decision tension of Stunt night is eased by the performance of the Ensemble.
CHRISTMAS

"T'is the season to be jolly" . . . Chorus concerts with candles and evergreen. . . . Christmas comes but once a year and every Meredith girl begins preparing for it weeks in advance. Dorm rooms are transformed by tinsel, sequined ornaments, and ribbon. Johnson Hall becomes the art department's studio as a huge Christmas tree and decorations appear. The climax of the season comes with the Christmas Banquet and caroling which follows. The Kitchen Staff prepares the banquet and entertains with Christmas carols. Full of Christmas cheer and bursting with song, Meredith girls board buses to spread good tidings to the faculty and their families . . . vesper service . . . the quiet and solemn reminder of the fundamental meaning of Christmas.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

The college at worship . . . renowned figures "speak the truth in love." . . . Religious Emphasis Week, February 5-9, featured Dr. Jack Noffsinger, Mr. Edgar Christman, and Dr. Charles B oddie interpreting the theme "New Wine." The Coffeehouse had its grand opening and was put to good use with daily films and discussion groups. Two of the highlights of the week were the Tonight Show supper club and the Trip, a psychedelic journey, staged in the attic of Poteat . . . morning collects and a book display . . . a faith-expanding experience.
FOUNDERS' DAY

Proud of the past . . . secure in the future . . . Meredith celebrated its 77th Founder's Day observance on February 27. The ceremony began with a procession of the Faculty and the Senior Class in regalia accompanied by the Chorus and instrumental ensemble. The invocation was given by John Wesley Lambert, pastor of St. John's Baptist Church in Raleigh. Shearon Harris, chairman of the Meredith Board of Associates, addressed the convocation on the topic, "To Sway the Minds of Men" . . . ticklish mortar-board tassels. . . . "We Build Our School on Thee O Lord."

QUENTIN O. McALLISTER
Professor of Foreign Languages
“Meredith, as a liberal arts college, should not be in the business of vocational training. Our task is to educate girls to become young adults capable of enjoying and appreciating the advantages offered by our civilization, and capable in their turn of contributing to that civilization. Of course, we do succeed in turning out well-prepared social workers, teachers, artists, etc., but this is really incidental to the true purpose of the liberal arts education, the total development of the individual.”

ALICE IN WONDERLAND

The land of cherry tarts revisited ... forty-four-year-old Happening ... On April 4, 1968, Jones Auditorium became the scene of Alice's land of wonder. Cavorting professors and staff projected Lewis Carroll's masterpiece into an unforgettable panorama of color, surprise, and sheer delight. Dignified Ph.D.'s brought down the house as they portrayed the Cheshire Cat, the King and Queen of Hearts, the White Rabbit, Humpty Dumpty, and many other unique characters. The humor, the artistic style, and the celebrated personalities of Meredith's gifted faculty remain unrivalled after this, their eleventh, production ... once every college generation ... an extraordinary performance by an extraordinary faculty and administration.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY THE CAPITAL COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO., INC.
There's nothing so obvious as a trend...

... and the trend at Edwards and Broughton Co. has always been toward better and more beautiful yearbooks... so that you, during the years to come, may continue to re-live those memorable school days – and “times gone by.”

And as time does go by, we will continue to set the trend in distinctive yearbooks.

Then, of course, there are always the “unsung”—Shan, for your “little . . . acts of kindness and of grace,” Donna Leslie for your wit, Johnnie for your genius, and Claudine for your inspiration. . . .
we finally emerge from all the vibrance and profound thought, the rainy days and frustration, the term papers and tears, and we glance back and look to a life that, in retrospect, makes us glad we were Meredith, for a little while.
